WHERE SALVATION COMES FROM

St. Paul and St. John agree that salvation comes from Christ. But how do the church and the world interact with that salvation?

In the beginning, the church was limited to a few people in the small geographic area of the Mediterranean. Then, it rapidly developed across the Roman Empire and into modern Europe and modern history, that is, the western church. But since the Second Vatican Council, the church understands herself as a universal church - Catholic not just in theory but in actual geographic extension.

As the church changes in the world, so does her sense of self, her sense of purpose in being a bringer of salvation.

First, the church pronounced, "There is no salvation outside the church." It was a proud but logical claim. This church saw herself as the kingdom of God on earth, the body of Christ, the privileged preacher of the gospel. If anyone was to be saved, they had to be aboard this ark of salvation. Those who rejected were considered heretics, therefore beyond discussion.

Vatican Council II confronted the church with the modern world. In a fit of fervor, church documents proclaimed: "The hopes and fears and joys of the world are the hopes and fears and joys of the church."

The slogan "there is no salvation outside the church" became, "there is no salvation outside the world."

That would seem too obvious to say, yet the value of that proclamation is in focusing the church on its worldly mission instead of on itself. It moves God from a private paradise to an earthly, messy entanglement with humankind. Besides working in the church, God also works at the factory, the office, the ballpark, the bedroom, the school, and the battlefield. Absolutely nothing and nobody escapes the notice and concern of God. Grace is everywhere.

How can God gather and guide His church that purports to bring salvation? I don't presume to know, but I know what I would say if I were God. I would say, "My friends, I implanted in you voracious desires and embedded you in a luxuriant paradise - so I won't hold too much against you for the desperate, disconsolate members of your extended family. Because money, lust, and power fade away, but my beloved poor people will always cry out to you."

Come to think of it, that is pretty much what God did say when he sent his personal messenger 2,000 years ago.

Fifth Sunday of Lent March 22, 2015

I will place my law within them and write it upon their hearts; I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

A Red Rose Can Be Placed By The Respect Life Altar

The Respect Life Committee invites you to pray for life. We also invite those interested in having a special 'life' intention to dedicate a plaque for one week at the 'life rose' on the altar by filling out a dedication envelope and placing it in the collection basket or dropping off at the rectory. The requested donation is $10 and envelopes are at the entrance to the church and in the adoration chapel. Let's not have a week go by without a dedication.

Miscarriage includes emotional, relational, and spiritual suffering that requires assistance from family, friends, and church leaders.

One in six pregnancies is lost through miscarriage. Some women deliver prematurely and their child dies. Some women have stillbirths. Some lose a child to early childhood diseases, accidents, and illness. We, as a culture, have no idea how many lives are lost. The suffering and pain from those losses can last for years and can affect marriages and families, and some never recover. Let us pray for all those who have lost a child.

Our Lady of Guadalupe, pray for us.

BOOK 'N BEAN... Wish you had more time to read great books? How about one per month? Join us on the last Tuesday of each month to discuss the club's book of the month!

April 28th: The Boys in the Boat (Daniel James Brown)

May 26th: Gone Girl (Gillian Flynn)
